

Suzannah Maynard, CRNP

Sue Maynard was born on her family's farm in Midcoast Maine, the sixth generation to grow up there. After undergraduate and graduate degrees in Geospatial and Information Engineering and working in the field for almost a decade she realized a lifelong interest to take care of people and transitioned into healthcare. Sue received her undergraduate and graduate degrees in Nursing she has worked across the lifespan from Newborns to patients well into their post retirement lives. She also serves as a clinical adjunct in the graduate nursing programs at Thomas Jefferson and The University of Pennsylvania. In her free time she can be found knitting, traveling, reading or traveling via food.